

Tax Reform Package by Christmas

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Hoping to wrap up the tax reform package by Christmas, the Senate will be debating during the next several weeks just how far it can go to play Santa Claus for individual U.S. taxpayers.

The issues of personal income tax exemptions and oil and gas depletion allowances are expected to highlight the lengthy debate which begins today.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., says he will press his proposal to raise the personal income tax exemptions.

Gore's proposal, defeated when the Senate Finance Committee worked over the House-passed reform bill, appears to be gaining support in the Senate. Behind it are, among others, Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the Democratic whip, and James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

The Gore plan would substitute larger deductions for an overall reduction in income tax rates passed Aug. 7 by the House and approved Oct. 31 by the finance committee.

Current tax law allows a taxpayer to deduct $600 from his income for himself and each dependent before figuring his taxes. Gore seeks to raise the deduction to $1,000 by 1973.

The oil and gas depletion allowance, now 27 1/2 per cent, was lowered to 20 per cent by the House but raised to 23 per cent by the Senate Finance Committee.

Senators preferring the lower rate are expected to offer amendments to the committee's version to reinstate it.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has said he would keep the Senate in session at night and on weekends to complete action on the bill before adjourning for a Christmas holiday.

After passage by the Senate the measure would have to go to a conference committee to work out differences between Senate and House versions. The committee's compromise then would have to be approved in both chambers before going to President Nixon.

Though different in detail, both Senate and House versions would give relief to individual taxpayers and raise taxes for corporations and foundations.

The measure also extends the income tax surcharge inaugurated under former President Lyndon B. Johnson and repeals the 7 per cent investment tax credit.

The surcharge, which was 10 per cent through this year, would be continued at 5 per cent through June 30.

president last year because of residence requirements. Richard M. Nixon, who won, drew only 310,638 votes more than Hubert H. Humphrey, who finished second.

The majority in the Hall case consisted of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Associate Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas, John Marshall Harlan, Potter Stewart and Byron R. White. Their opinion was not signed.

In a similar action the court threw out an appeal that challenged an Ohio law requiring nominating petitions for independent candidates for Congress to be signed by at least four per cent of the number of voters who voted for governor in the district.

Paul M. Brockington, a 47-year-old Cleveland antipolice worker who was blocked in an attempt to run for Congress last year, claimed the state had violated his right to participate in the political process.

The unanimous decision said "the case is moot because the congressional election is over."

January Draft Quota Is Cut Drastically

WASHINGTON (AP) — January's draft quota has been cut by two-thirds, bringing a drop in manpower needs credited by defense officials to "Vietnamization" of the war to more than 72,000 for a four-month period which began in October.

Announcing the cutback in January's draft call from 35,000 to 12,500 men, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Saturday he would act speedily to put into effect the draft lottery system enacted last week by Congress.

Laird said the 12,500 men called into the service in January would be chosen by the new random selection procedure from all qualified men between the ages of 19 and 26. After a transitional year, only 19-year-olds will be drafted.

The reduction in projected military manpower needs for January is the second to be announced by the Nixon administration this fall. President Nixon earlier canceled November and December draft calls totaling 50,000 men. October's draft quota of 29,000 men was spread over the three-month October-November-December period.

Laird said the cutback was made possible by "the progress of Vietnamization," a term he uses to describe withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam and their replacement by South Vietnamese troops.

Because of the decrease, and partly because of economy measures within the military, Laird also announced three Army combat training centers would be closed and 100 training companies abolished.

Negotiators in Two-Hour Conference

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators met for two hours today, their longest secret session since starting their strategic arms limitation talks a week ago.

In advance of today's private parley at the U.S. Embassy, U.S. envoys had hoped for clues from the Russians on what nuclear arms the Kremlin might consider negotiable in future, full-scale discussions on curbing the superpower missile race.

As usual, spokesmen for both sides refused after the meeting — the third business session since the talks began — to disclose anything except the length of the meeting and when the next one will be held: Wednesday, at the Soviet Embassy.

As the delegations were meeting, the Soviet news agency Tass sounded its first criticism of the United States in the arms talks.

Tass said "imperialist states" — obviously meaning the United States — were to blame for the arms race. It cited rising U.S. military expenditures and figures on U.S. strategic arms strength.

Tass, in a dispatch from Helsinki, praised the Soviet government for seeking an end to the arms race but gave no credit on this score to the United States.

A U.S. delegation spokesman denied a published report that the Russians last week had been told the details of the United States' nuclear force.

Newsmen previously had been advised by U.S. sources that the delegation here did not intend to reveal secret material in the talks.

3000 Gather for Show of Strength

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Almost 3,000 members of the state Democratic Party gathered in Little Rock Saturday night in a show of strength and to pay tribute to the state's Democratic Congressional delegation.

Arkansas' senior senator, John L. McClellan, told the crowd that Arkansas needed a change in administration, but that it could not be done if the Democrats fought among themselves.

McClellan told those gathered for the rally, that the party is not united, but that I must take steps to do so. He said the party needs the support of those Democrats who supported Wallace in the 1968 presidential election and termed them "good Democrats."

Honored at the rally besides McClellan were Sen. J. W. Fulbright and Reps. Wilbur D. Mills, David Pryor and Bill Alexander.

Fulbright told the group that the Republicans have one-man control of state government with Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

"Of course, he pays for it — I suppose he deserves it," Fulbright said.

He urged the Democrats to support their state committee. During the program at the $10-a-person rally, Mills told the Democrats to unite.

He said that his grandfather had told him, "You'll never meet a Republican in Washington that is as nice as the sorriest Democrat in Arkansas."

Mills said he was more worried about the Democrats at the state level, until the younger members of the party realize that the older members have something worthwhile to contribute, and vice versa.

Pryor said the gathering was the largest assemblage of Democrats in an off-election year in the state, and joined with Alexander in calling for party unity.

A memorial to the late President John F. Kennedy was observed during the rally.

Meyer Award Goes to Hart

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Tommy Hart of Henderson, a senior quarterback was awarded the Charles T. Meyer Foundation award for the month of October for excellence in athletics.

Hart rushed for 626 yards and scored eight touchdowns in four Reddie football games in October. He is near the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference record for total offense and leads in league scoring.

Runner-up was flanker Chuck Dicus of the Arkansas Razorback football team, with Arkansas State tailback Calvin Harrell third and Razorback fullback Bruce Maxwell fourth.

STEPHEN MHOON

MILDENHALL, England — U.S. Air Force Airman First Class Stephen M. Mhoon, son of Mrs. Dorothy Martin of 1414 Barlow, Dallas, is on temporary duty at Mildenhall RAF Station, England.

The airman, a 1965 graduate of Garland (Tex.) High School, attended Southern Methodist University and Dallas County Junior College.

His father, Arthur J. Mhoon, resides in Hope, Ark.

Democrats Open Up for Any Voter

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Democratic State Committee opened up the party primary Saturday to any voter and candidate regardless of his political leanings during the last election.

The rules say that any voter can cast a ballot in the primary without challenge and that a potential candidate can run on the party ticket by signing an oath that says he will support all party nominees.

In addition, the candidate must swear that he is not a member of any other political party and must pledge his support of the candidates of the Democratic Party.

A rule, adopted at the party convention last year, sparked controversy within the party and was responsible for Saturday's new ruling. The old rule, in effect, said that anyone voting in the primary or running for office must sign an oath saying that he supported the party's candidates during the last election.

This would have disqualified those who supported Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, Republican Congressman John Paul Hamerschmidt or George Wallace in 1968.

Edgar L. Ball of Hot Springs criticized the new ruling saying that the oath throws open the party primary to everyone. He said the party should require of a candidate that he must have been a party member for at least two years before seeking the nomination of the party.

The ruling Saturday was made after party Chairman Charles D. Matthews of North Little Rock had suggested that the committee suspend until after the 1970 primaries the controversial requirements for voting and running in primaries.

Splashdown Awaited by Families

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 12 streaked today toward a Pacific splashdown, ending 10 tense days for the wives of the moon adventurers.

"I was thinking how thankful I'll be when Al gets home again," Sue Bean, the pert blonde wife of moonwalker Alan Bean, said after church Sunday.

For Mrs. Bean, Barbara Gordon and Jane Conrad, the flight of Apollo 12 has been a mixture of apprehension, exhilaration and sleepless nights.

The worrying began during the first moments of launch, when commander Charles Conrad Jr. reported the spaceship had suffered an electrical power failure attributed to lightning.

Then came the perilous descent to the moon, the moonwalks, the broken television camera, the drama of liftoff from the lunar surface.

The wives followed the high adventure via television and squawkbox, flanked by children, friends and relatives.

Barbara Gordon attended Mass daily. All three families tried to ease the tension with picnics and other group activities.

Will Insist on Timely Billings

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Welfare Commissioner Len E. Blaylock said Sunday that the state Welfare Department must insist on timely billings from physicians under the Medicaid program to begin Jan. 1.

Blaylock, speaking to members of the Arkansas Medical Society, said the Welfare Department must "keep score" on the rate that the appropriations are spent to prevent overspending and possible discontinuance of the program.

Blaylock said the state hopes to avoid the "dire straits" that other states have gotten into by overspending their federal and state allotments. The program in Arkansas will have about $36 million.

The state must implement the Medicaid program by Jan. 1 or face the loss of federal funds to provide medical aid to indigent patients.

The program provides five basic federally required services: In-patient hospital care, out-patient hospital care, laboratory and X-ray services, skilled nursing home care and physician's services.

The department estimates that 125,000 persons will be assisted by Medicaid in Arkansas, including 90,000 adults and 35,000 persons under age 21.

Quarantine for Moon Men May Be Lifted

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — If the Apollo 12 astronauts are found to be free of alien organisms, future moon explorers may be excused from the three-week quarantine now in force.

No lunar bugs cropped up in the men of Apollo 11 or the material they brought back from the Sea of Tranquility.

The Apollo 12 moon landers set down 800 miles away, in the Ocean of Storms, and space scientists say there is a far-fetched possibility a weird form of life might exist in the different environment.

They don't expect to find any, but they're taking no chances. "With identical negative information from two missions, we might propose relieving the crew quarantine after Apollo 12," Dr. A. D. Catterson, a Manned Spaceflight Center surgeon, said in an interview.

freedom of speech, assembly and press are a far greater threat to liberty in this nation than any result, no matter how unfortunate, of the war in Vietnam," McGovern said Saturday night in Bethany, W.Va.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said he is "strongly opposed to legislative sanctions on the journalistic community."

But Tower wrote constituents that Agnew initiated a significant dialogue which should remind every newsman "of the burden of responsibility he has shouldered as a journalist."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said Agnew's criticism of television news programs was well founded. "The so-called news programs too often fall prey to sensationalism and sometimes, or even usually, present a one-sided viewpoint," he said in a newsletter.

Meanwhile in New York, President Nixon's communications director, Herbert G. Klein, said he did not expect Agnew to continue his attacks on the press.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, asked in Los Angeles about Agnew's remarks on the news media, said Agnew probably feels "and I feel that the activities of the media are subject to discussion just as the activities of politicians are subject to discussion."

Mitchell said newsmen treated him "outstandingly," but he had one complaint: "Some people have been publishing pictures of me smiling and it's ruining my image."

Undersold."

You have yet to make an offer, but the monologue already has turned to how you would like it shipped or wrapped or taken to your car.

"Now just a dang-busted, gosh darn minute," you say in your best early James Stewart innocent-Americanese and try handing the knife back, but no one is available to accept it. The small boy is busy fanning away the noonday heat; the proprietor is digging deep into his treasures.

"Here, genuine rhinestone hill: 50 dirhams."

You manage to get across that you don't want a dagger but you might be interested in a pouf, one of those puffed up hair pillows that Yvonne De Carlo or Vera Ralston used to sprawl on waiting for the call to come home. One in the stall next door caught your fancy.

"Next door!" All ben Nadim is appalled. "Never buy next door. Very unreliable. Only my shop is reliable. Ask any taxi driver. Ask any hotel doorman." That is a bit like putting down Willie Sutton as a bank reference.

"Poufs, I have thousands of poufs," the proprietor assures you, plopping them down everywhere. "Camel hide, goat skin, genuine gazelle, Green, Red, Gold, White..."

Bargaining begins at 80 dirhams—$16. You have more like $5 in mind. At 60 dirhams you are his very special, best friend-price customer. At 40 you walk out and he follows you up the narrow, winding streets. At 25 dirhams, exactly five bucks, you relent and follow him back to the shop.

"All right," he smiles, rubbing his hands. "How many you want? Five? Six?"

When you tell him only one, the price is suddenly back to 60 dirhams. "I thought you were buying many poufs. Can't give special price for just one."

Settling out of court at $6, you get the appeal to the heart: "All right, 30 dirhams. It is less than I paid for it, but I need the money for an operation on my father's heart." He points to a round gentleman sucking on a waterpipe in the curtained shadows of the family alcove.

The urchin-merchant precedes you up the street, the package on his head, distracting your gaze from a shop window pushing a similar pouf for $3.

TAX LOOPHOLE

present 27 1/2 per cent depletion allowance beyond the 50 per cent net income limitation set by Congress, federal officials said.

It also enables the firms to reduce or eliminate federal income tax liability, sometimes by creating self-induced paper losses.

Involved in the transactions are sales of carved-out production payments—in essence the right to future profits from mineral deposits.

Banks are leary of buying production payments directly because the courts have held that production payments are interests in land, and the law restricts banks' land dealings.

Therefore, foundations—known in the trade as "straws"—are set up to buy the production payments, generally with money loaned by banks.

The number of foundations involved in such deals is not known, government officials said.

But a check of foundation records for Louisiana and Texas turned up more than 30 foundations whose only assets were production payments. Most had directors linked to banks or oil company law firms.

The foundations handled $118,500,000 in production payments last year and gave $145,635 to charity. This is the equivalent of one-tenth of one per cent.

Donations to charity are small because the foundations earn only the difference between the interest rates charged by banks on loans to foundations and the slightly higher interest equivalent paid by the oil companies on money received from the foundations.

A study by the Treasury Department shows that production payment transactions totaled $750 million in 1967 and $703 million last year. This represents a three-fold increase over the 1965 total.

The practice of selling production payments is older than this century, but use of the deals to avoid taxes is a relatively recent development, resulting from court decisions and government tax rulings.

Treasury officials said one tax dollar is lost for every seven dollars involved in the deals. Therefore, they said, carved-out

CLUB MEETS

When the Golden Age Club met Thursday, November 20 in the Douglas Building for a covered dish luncheon, the food and decorations carried out the Harvest Time theme. For instance, the centerpiece on the serving table was a horn of plenty with autumn food and flowers in it.

Mrs. Ollie Evans of Texarkana, a former member of the local club, was a special guest. She played the piano while all sang patriotic songs. Then, using Psalm 103:2-4 as a basis, she had an inspirational message, "Blessed Are Those Who Give Without Remembering and Receive Without Forgetting."

A buffet luncheon was served to 13 members, Mrs. Evans, and A. Smith, the transportation chairman. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Thelma Smith presided over the business meeting. The door prize was won by Irvin Gleghorn, and several games were played.

The next meeting will be Thursday, December 4 at 1:30 p.m. in the Douglas Building.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

Tells Way to Prevent Food Poisoning

By ANGEL CASTILLO
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — If your Thanksgiving turkey's coming out of a freezer, let it thaw completely.

Then cook it thoroughly. That way, says Dr. Matthew S. Loewenstein, you minimize the risk of having the holiday spoiled by food poisoning.

Dr. Loewenstein is assistant chief of the Salmonella Unit of the National Communicable Disease Center (NCDC) here.

Loewenstein says turkeys—as well as other poultry, eggs, and many meat products—may transmit salmonellosis, a food poisoning that could turn Thanksgiving fun into great discomfort.

Salmonellosis is an acute infectious disease characterized by a sudden onset of abdominal pain, diarrhea, frequent vomiting, chills, fever and prostration, says the NCDC.

Loewenstein said the chances of buying a turkey that carries salmonellosis are "about 10 percent" at any time of the year.

However, he added, if the turkey is thawed out well and cooked thoroughly under hygienic conditions, there is almost no chance of getting salmonellosis from a disease-carrying bird.

Another NCDC official, Dr. John Bennett, said regular checks on poultry conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture don't reveal whether salmonellosis is present. In-

Shakespeare in L.R. on Nov. 28-29

The first Shakespeare Festival ever held in Arkansas, will be performed at Robinson Auditorium in Little Rock when Robert Burr, noted Shakespearean actor brings two of the Bard's great plays, November 28 and 29. Thanksgiving week-end. The Saturday matinee will be the straight serious "Hamlet," right out of original manuscript. The two evening performances will be Tom Stoppard's Drama Critic's and Tony Award winning play, "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead." One of the most acclaimed and prize winning plays of the last few seasons in London and New York.

The festival will be a major achievement of Phillip G. Back's 1969-70 "Broadway Theatre Series" which now has more than one thousand season patrons, and one of the outstanding theatrical series in the U.S. playing the road companies.

After enacting "Hamlet" the same actors will turn around and perform Tom Stoppard's modern re-interpretation of the classic, which was winner of the Drama Critics' Circle Award and the Tony Award as the best play of its season in New York. Those audiences can see, one after the other, Shakespeare's towering drama about the troubled disinherited prince who could not make up his mind about avenging his father's murder, and Stoppard's skewed version of the same events at Elsinore. These are viewed from the fringe of the melodrama, by Hamlet's college chums who had been summoned to spy on him by his nervously apprehensive uncle. Both plays are acted by the same cast, more or less.

Ophelia, Gertrude, Polonius and Rosencrantz will be differently lined in each play, but the same actors, but others in the cast will switch parts. Robert Burr, is playing the troubled prince in "Hamlet." But since Hamlet is almost an incidental character while the muddled courtiers are center-staged in "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead," this star will be seen in the up-to-date version in the showier role of the sardonic, exuberant, leader of the strolling players, and Harvey Solin (Laertes in "Hamlet") will be the Hamlet whose behavior puzzles his old college classmates.

With their different viewpoints, it is appropriate that each of the related plays has been staged by its own director—Jacques Britton is blending the comedy and modern commentary of "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead," Peter Levinis stirring in the excitement of "Hamlet."

Though the Tom Stoppard play has enjoyed a widespread popularity in England, where it was first produced, and throughout Europe and in New York and other American cities, it has not until this tour been acted side-by-side (or, rather, successively) by one company and the present pairing of the related plays is a unique opportunity for theatre-goers.

Robert Burr comes to the challenging role of "Hamlet" with some of the best credentials of any young actor in the English-speaking world. Nine previous Shakespearean appearances are on his record (two of them as Hamlet in New York) as well as some twenty roles in modern Broadway plays and musicals. Said the New York Times: "Robert Burr's is a Hamlet of stature and talent. He is full of vigor and virility, and he charged his performance with a vitality and excitement that should be long remembered by those who see him."

Following the Shakespeare Festival include three Broadway long-run hit musicals, "Cabaret," "Mame," and "I Do, I Do." The season will close in April with Arthur Miller's greatest dramatic novel, "The Price," also an award winning play.

Phillip G. Back, owner of Superior Attractions, a long-established presenter said that this would probably be the most successful series he has yet done and looked forward to the following season, which is now in the planning.

Information, prices and tickets may be had by writing "Broadway Theatre Series" Post Office Box 131, Little Rock, Arkansas 72203, or by a personal visit to Mr. Back's Central Ticket Office at 212 Louisiana Street in the Little Rock financial district.

dividual bacteriological tests would have to be conducted to detect the disease, Bennett explained.

The disease poses no serious threats to healthy persons, Bennett said.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There is something new under the sun: the cosmic press conference. The homeward bound astronauts, huddled in front of the Yankee Clipper's television camera Sunday night and answered newsmen's questions from a point 97,000 miles in space.

Only ABC among the three major networks chose to carry the space program live. It preempted the second half of "Land of Giants" while CBS and NBC continued on with regular programming, "To Rome, With Love" and the Disney Hour.

The gum-chewing astronauts answered about a dozen questions submitted by reporters during a half hour. They described their emotions during the moon-landing—"I was having a ball," said Commander Charles Conrad Jr.—and told in detail some of their experiences.

The program was not an unqualified success since the transmission of their voices occasionally was mushy and their words indistinct.

Conrad confessed that because of a tight fitting space suit he slept poorly on the Intrepid, and Alan Bean said he didn't sleep so well either. Neither man had any dreams they could remember.

Conrad seemed restless during the interview, occasionally moving up and floating past the camera and then resuming his seat. A camera seemed suspended in front of him. Once something resembling a notebook floated into view and was pulled down by Bean.

There probably was more. ABC's science reporter Jules Bergman broke into the interview to say the program would be "back after this message." But after some commercials and a station break, ABC, too, returned to regular programming.

"The File on Devlin," the first "Hall of Fame" special of the season was broadcast on NBC Friday. It was a change of pace for the series and a big disappointment. The 90 minutes was a silly and obvious melodrama of international intrigue that used every hoary device of the grade C movie, including a secret passage in a Swiss villa.

The story was about efforts of Russian agents to kidnap the widow of an eminent American writer so she could be exchanged for a distinguished Russian woman who had defected.

An excellent cast—Judith Anderson, David McCallum and Elizabeth Ashley—took it all seriously but couldn't do a thing about getting it off the ground.

The original comedy that followed it, "Mirror, Mirror, Off the Wall," was the sort of fantasy that actors of the caliber of George V. Scott and Maureen Stapleton must enjoy.

Scott played a dedicated, stormy writer of serious books

GINGERSNAPS
¾ cup (1½ sticks) butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup light molasses
Cup grated rind of 1 lemon

2 tablespoons brandy or lemon juice
¾ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons ground ginger
1 teaspoon ground cardamom
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon salt

who, in what seemed a gesture of defiance, ripped off under a pen name a sexy piece of trash that turned into a best seller. Suddenly his alter ego, also played by Scott, turned up to taunt and bedevil him.

His affectionate and worried wife—Miss Stapleton—also developed an alter ego—a tough, bold blonde. The message behind the fantasy was probably that there is a Jekyll and Hyde in all of us. The portions where the originals were talking to their alter egos seemed strained and awkward, but the hour was a welcome change from formula comedy.

Recommended tonight: Bob Hope Special, NBC, 9-10 p.m., EST, with Danny Thomas, Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme; "Peepicker in Piccadilly, Tennessee Ernie Ford in a musical special shot in England.

Mix butter and sugar. Beat in egg. Add and beat in molasses, lemon rind and brandy or lemon juice. Sift together onto a piece of waxed paper flour, baking soda, ginger, cardamom, cinnamon, cloves and salt. Add to butter-sugar mixture and beat until well-mixed. Chill several hours or overnight. Roll out a portion at a time, keeping remainder refrigerated until ready to roll. Roll dough out on floured pastry cloth, using a floured stocknette rolling-pin sleeve, to 1/16-inch thick. Cut with cookie cutter and place on lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake in 350-degree oven about 6 minutes or until very lightly browned around the edges. Makes 7 dozen 2¼-inch cookies.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

IS "TRICK OR TREAT" GOING OUT OF STYLE?

Dear Helen: We stocked up with goodies for the Halloween trick or treaters—and only about a third the usual number showed up.

I asked in other parts of town, same thing.

Some of the mothers told me they wouldn't let their children go out because they were afraid of attacks. And others told of kids getting things like razor blades in apples, or moth balls instead of candy.

One child got violently sick from a strange kind of cookie. There were even tales of ground glass in candy!

What kind of sick minds would dream up things like this? Is a happy custom going down the drain because a few people are so depraved?—MISSING THE KIDS

Dear MTK: Too bad those depraved few can't be flushed down the drain, along with their sick "tricks."

Nevertheless, I think trick or treating will be around for a while—but probably limited (as it should be) to the home block... H.

Dear Helen: This may be the most stupid letter you ever received.

My husband gets a big thrill out of scaring the daylight out of me. You see, I'm a rather nervous person, and scared of the dark. Behind every corner, there he is! Ready to pounce. When I open a door onto a dark room, he jumps at me. He hides in the closet, or stands in the dark by my bed, to make me scream with fear.

Now, our two year old boy is starting to do it too, but he isn't as sneaky, so I always know he's there.

I plead with my husband, but he thinks this is hilarious. Someday I may start screaming and won't be able to stop. The crazy thing is that he is a wonderful man otherwise, and very good to me. Maybe he's trying to teach me bravery.

You know, I'm almost tempted to carry a baseball bat and every time he scares me, have a reflex motion—or sneak up and lock him in the closet where he is hiding, leaving him there all evening. Please—don't think this is a hoax. I decided to write you because I got scared out of bed again tonight!—APPREHENSIVE

Dear Apprehensive: You know, I'm almost tempted to go along with your "cures" for this totally insensitive man! But I think a long talk with your doctor might do him more lasting good. He might learn that when he fights fear with shock, he can turn ordinary nerves into hysteria.—H.

Dear Helen: There are female chairmen, journeymen, postmasters. So why aren't they called women, instead of men and "masters?" Discrimination again!—Female

Dear Female: Why quibble? Would you really want to be called chairwoman?

Dear Helen: Please inform worn out folk who complain of women's padding, false eyelashes, wigs, etc., that we gals do not come under the "Truth in Packaging" law! —LIZ

Ohio State No Longer Nation's Best

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The king is dead; long live the king!

But Ohio State's successor as king of the college football world won't be known until all the ballots in The Associated Press poll are in and counted tonight.

There is no shortage of candidates in the wake of Michigan's stunning 24-12 upset of the mighty Buckeyes, who had been at the top of the rankings all season long.

"I'm nervous as a cat over the possibility that we could wind up No. 1 in the nation," said Darrell Royal, whose second-ranked Texas team did not play Saturday. "But when I start thinking about it realistically, I know we have three more games to go and the big shootout is still ahead, too."

The "big shootout" is the Dec. 6 Texas-Arkansas clash which could decide the top team of the regular season.

Joe Paterno, whose fourth-ranked Penn State team beat Pitt 27-7, said Ohio State's defeat "gives us another shot at being No. 1. If Ohio State hadn't been beaten it would have been tough. But I think we have the credentials."

There was no word from Frank Broyles of third-ranked Arkansas, also idle Saturday. Broyles probably was too busy plotting an ambush for Texas when the Longhorns invade Fayetteville.

Despite the end of its 22-game winning streak, Ohio State must feel a little bit of pride at the accomplishment of its Schenbecker, Michigan's first-year coach, Schenbecker received a master's degree in education from Ohio State in 1952 and served as Woody Hayes' line coach from 1955-62.

He also played under Hayes at Miami of Ohio and spent many hours at the Hayes apartment talking football.

The largest crowd ever to see a college football game—103,588—watched 12th-ranked Michigan rally from 6-0 and 12-7 deficits and battle their way to the Rose Bowl against fifth-ranked Southern California, a 14-12 winner over sixth-ranked UCLA.

Fullback Garvie Craw barreled over two touchdowns, quarterback Don Moorhead scored after Barry Pierson's 60-yard punt return to the Buckeye three-yard line and Tim Kilian added a 25-yard field goal. But it was the Michigan defense that stopped Ohio State.

Besides his long punt return, Pierson intercepted three passes as the Wolverine secondary picked off six aerials thrown by Rex Kern and Ron Maciejowski. The Michigan defense blanked the Buckeyes after first-half scores by Jim Otis on a short plunge and Kern's 22-yard pass to Jan White.

"We made every mistake possible. Every good thing has to come to an end. They outplayed us, outthrust us and outcoached us."

A 71-yard punt return by Dennis Onkotz set up the first of Charlie Pittman's two touchdowns as Penn State broke a 7-7 halftime tie with stubborn Pitt. Southern Cal fell behind cross-town rival UCLA 12-7 with 3:07 remaining, then stormed 68 yards and nipped the Bruins on a 32-yard pass from Jimmy Jones to Sam Dickerson with 92 seconds left. Both sides entered the game—played before 90,814—with 8-0-1 marks.

Missouri, ranked seventh, crushed Kansas 69-21 as Terry McMillan passed for four touchdowns and scored twice. It was the highest-scoring game in Big Eight history.

Eighth-ranked Notre Dame held off the Air Force 13-6 and

Wednesday Hope, Camden Play Here

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

And the best team won. Two fourth-quarter touchdowns paved the way for the Bobcats to a 14-7 show-down victory over the Arkadelphia Badgers for the 4-AA Western Division championship last Friday night at Henderson Stadium in Arkadelphia.

Hammons Stadium will be site on Wednesday night of this week for the 4-AA title playoff, and the Bobcats will take on the Camden Panthers of the Eastern Division for the big trophy.

It was the fourth Homecoming victory for the Bobcats this season, including wins at Malvern and Camden and 4-2-0 Hope win over Nashville on the Cats' Homecoming game. Arkadelphia fell to 10-1 for the season after being ranked fifth in the entire state and first in the state Class AA, while Hope is now 10-2.

Defense and that big-play offense turned the trick for the Bobcats, who had a following of over 2000 fans in a large crowd of 7000 plus. The Badgers were frustrated by bad field position except on their scoring drive, and wound up with only 78 yards passing after averaging 140 a game before.

Hope blew three chances inside the Arkadelphia 20-yard stripe, two coming on lost fumbles and the other on loss of downs. But through all that giveaway (the Bobcats lost four fumbles in the first half alone) the Badgers never really could take command.

They did move 42 yards for their lone TD after Artis Martin tumbled a punt, and Carlous Murch scored from the two with 3:54 left in the half. Bill Hurley kicked it to 7-0, and it stayed that way for a long time.

A common statement of Arkansas' Frank Broyles is that "if a team leading at halftime can dominate the first five minutes of the third quarter, then winning will be no problem." Well, Frank, here is an exception.

With the second-half kick the Badgers impressively marched from their 23 to the Hope end of the field, consuming time and yardage in sizable chunks. After 6½ minutes of waiting, the Hope defense, finally, held the Hope Bobcat 22 when Ray Wheelington hit Badger Luther Guinn for a seven-yard loss.

Still Arkadelphia had the momentum and confidence, but it was jolted when Artis Martin burst 48 yards down the middle to the Badger 27. Then the Cats lost it back on downs at the 17, and Arkadelphia readied for a big push.

It never came off. A punt gave the Bobcats possession at the Hope 20, and Newton ended the third period with a one-yard gain. That set the stage for the unexpected knockout blow, and Artis Martin did the job beautifully. Starting out as a normal power sweep, Martin cut across the grain when the defense expected him to go out-of-bounds and Artis was clear sailing for a 79-yard score. And if that wasn't enough, Ronnie Massanelli did the rest by passing to Lee Davis for an 8-7 Hope lead with 11:45 to play.

That rattled the Badgers, and Guinn bobbled the next kickoff before nervously falling on it at his own two-yard line. Stopped cold, Arkadelphia end Bill Hurley punked only 24 yards, and the Cats took over again at the 30.

Now came the grinding machine which leads 4-AA in rushing offense, with Jones, Massanelli, and Martin mixing it up and gaining the yards behind steady blocking.

With third and goal Gary Jones steamed across from the two, but Ronny Brown missed the kick to leave it 14-7 with 5:51 to go. Never before had Arkadelphia been behind later than in the opening minutes of play, and they were confused the rest of the way. QB Bill Vinline desperately tried to rally his forces with pass after pass, but the last gasp died when Bobcat Randy Still intercepted his second pass a minute before the end.

With 205 yards on 23 runs, Artis Martin now has 1384 on 203 attempts and 96 points on 16 touchdowns. Those statistics are unmatched in these parts, though Malvern's Roy McLamore had over 1100 yards in his season. And now, quickly, we must look to Camden and the stingy Panthers 19-7 on their Homecoming on Halloween Night.

Tomorrow this column will provide a scouting report on the Panthers for those who may not have seen the first meeting of the two teams. Remember the game, Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. in Hammons Stadium, for the 4-AA championship.

Texas Just Inherited First Place

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer

It's not often that a football coach can watch his team inherit the nation's No. 1 ranking from a pressbox.

But that was the case with Texas' Darrell Royal at Waco Saturday as Royal received word that top-ranked Ohio State had been upset by Michigan 24-12.

The Michigan victory made the No. 2 ranked Longhorns almost a cinch to move into the No. 1 spot this week and gave them added momentum for Thursday's Thanksgiving Day tussle with traditional rival Texas A&M.

The Longhorns had an open date and Royal was in Waco as a spectator at the Baylor-Southern Methodist game. But most of his attention was miles away at Ann Arbor, Mich.

One newsman sitting near Royal in the pressbox said Royal got more excited each time periodic scores of the OSU game were announced. "I think he jumped a little higher each time," he mused.

But Royal was quick to come back to earth. He said he was "nervous as a cat" about the possibility that Texas could finish as the No. 1 team in the nation.

"But when I start thinking about it realistically, I know we have three more games to go and the 'big shootout' is still ahead too."

Besides Thursday's game at College Station, the Longhorns face the Southwest Conference game of the year Dec. 6 against Arkansas, which also should benefit by Ohio State's loss. "We're not the only ones affected by this news," Royal pointed out.

SMU handed Baylor a 12-6 defeat and Texas Christian trimmed Rice 21-17 in the only SWC games Saturday.

Royal's elation was at least matched in Austin by members of the Texas team and towns people.

"I was driving in my car," said fullback Steve Worster. "When I heard the score I almost had a wreck."

Some of the Longhorns saw the score flashed on a television screen in their dorm. "The whole place took off," said halfback Jim Bertelsen. "I think it will help us play better in the remainder of our games. I know it'll help me play better."

"It was really amazing," said tri-captain Ted Koy. "As soon as the game was over, people started blowing their horns in the street. We could see all the cars and all the people going crazy."

"This opens a whole lot of doors for us. It's just a matter of us walking through."

Fourth-ranked Arkansas, also idle last week, hosts Texas Tech in Little Rock Thursday and Rice and Baylor close out their seasons Saturday in Houston.

The winless Baylor Bears, now 0-9, came close in the waning moments against SMU, but the drive fizzled at the Mustang 18 with 1:22 left when SMU defender Mike Jordan broke up a fourth down pass play.

Baylor's Terry Cozby and SMU's Bucky Lesser traded 52-yard field goals, only three yards shy of the SWC record. Cozby also kicked a 21-yarder. The game's only touchdown was SMU quarterback Chuck Hixson's five-yard run.

SMU closed out the season with a 3-7 record.

With less than four minutes to play, sophomore quarterback Steve Judy hit flanker Lin' Cole on a 34-yard scoring shot to provide TCU with its victory over Rice. TCU finished with a 4-3 SWC record and could share third place if Tech loses to Arkansas.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 days on Grapefruit Diet

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special) — This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S.

Because this diet really works. We have testimonials reporting on its success. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. No weight loss in the first four days but you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1 1/2 pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Revised and enlarged, this diet lets you stuff yourself with formerly "forbidden" foods, such as steak or fried chicken, gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fats, sausages and scrambled eggs and still lose weight. The secret behind this "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. And the grapefruit juice in this diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger"), to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose weightily fat and excess body fluids. A copy of this startling successful diet can be obtained by sending $2 to

Citrus Diet Plan

Money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet you have not lost 7 pounds in the first seven days, another 6 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim attractive figure of your youth.

Raiders Use Interceptions to Gain Win

By ED SCHUYLER, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Quarterback Len Dawson has seen his mates on the Kansas City Chiefs defensive team make as many as five interceptions in a game. But this time it was the Oakland Raiders who stole that many passes — passes thrown by Dawson.

Two of the interceptions Sunday were returned for touchdowns as the Raiders edged Chiefs 27-24 and moved back into first place in the American Football League's Western Division with a 9-1-1 record compared to Kansas City's 9-2.

"Our defense had done it against some other people," said the veteran Dawson, who could not recall throwing five interceptions in a game before. "There really is no excuse. The Oakland rush was a hard one, but I should have thrown better too."

In other AFL action, the Eastern Division-leading New York Jets, 8-3, drubbed Cincinnati, 46-1, 40-7; Boston, 3-8, topped Buffalo, 3-8, 35-21; San Diego, 5-6, outlasted Denver, 4-6-1, 45-24, and Houston, 5-4-2, trounced Miami, 2-8-1, 32-7.

Los Angeles nipped Dallas 24-23, Detroit edged Green Bay 16-10, Washington took Atlanta 27-20, Baltimore downed Chicago 24-21, Cleveland whipped the New York Giants 34-30, Philadelphia shaded St. Louis 34-30, Minnesota walloped Pittsburgh 52-14 and New Orleans beat San Francisco 43-38 in National Football League action.

One of Oakland's interceptions was returned 75 yards by linebacker Dan Connors for a touchdown that gave the Raiders a 27-17 lead at Kansas City. The Chiefs closed to within 27-24 in the fourth quarter on Dawson's 42-yard scoring strike to Frank Pitts, but Dawson had two more passes picked off in the final two minutes, one on the Oakland eight-yard line.

The Jets defense shut off Cincinnati's running game, dumped quarterback Greg Cook for losses four times, forced him to fumble and picked off one of his passes.

Meanwhile, Joe Namath threw two touchdown passes to George Sauer, Babe Parilli hit Pete Lammons with a scoring strike, Bill Mathis ran 11 yards for a touchdown and Jim Turner kicked four field goals, one of 50 yards, for the Jets. Cook passed eight yards to Bob Trumphy for Cincinnati's touchdown in the fourth period.

Jim Nance scored from two yards out to snap a 21-21 tie for Boston against Buffalo and Mike Tailferro threw three touchdown passes for the Patriots. Jack Kemp connected on two scoring tosses for Buffalo.

San Diego got by Denver as rookie quarterback Marty Domres passed for one touchdown, his first in the AFL, and ran for two more and Dick Post ran for three. Steve Tensi passed for three Denver touchdowns.

Pete Beathard threw two touchdown passes and Roy Gerela booted three field goals for Houston, runnerup in the East, and the Oilers defense intercepted five of Rick Norton's passes and held the Miami quarterback to seven completions in 26 attempts for 43 yards.

Rams Come Up With the Big Plays

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's a simple reason why the Los Angeles Rams are enjoying astonishing success this season, according to George Allen, coach of the National Football League's only unbeaten club.

"The story of our football team in 1969 is simply this: We come up the big plays when we have to," said Allen.

And the Rams were coming up with big plays all over the place Sunday in turning back Dallas 24-23 for their 10th straight victory — the longest winning streak in the NFL since Green Bay did it in 1962.

Quarterback Gorman Gabriel accounted for three of the plays — firing two touchdown tosses and running for another — before the Rams cranking defense came up with some more in cutting short a gallant Cowboy comeback in the final quarter.

In other games, Minnesota thundered past Pittsburgh 52-14, Baltimore squeezed past Chicago 24-21 on some late heroics by veteran Johnny Unitas, Cleveland clipped New York 20-17, Washington topped Atlanta 27-20, Detroit beat Green Bay 16-10, Philadelphia whipped St. Louis 34-30 and New Orleans subdued San Francisco 43-38.

In the American Football League, Oakland edged Kansas City 27-24, New York blasted Cincinnati 40-7, Boston topped Buffalo 35-21, San Diego beat Denver 45-24 and Houston coasted past Miami 32-7.

Gabriel's one-yard scoring run gave the Rams a 24-16 lead and an apparent victory with just 10 minutes left. But the injury-riddled Cowboys stormed back with a 99-yard march and cut the gap to one point on Craig Morton's eight-yard TD pass to Lance Rentzel.

Then, with time running out, Dallas launched another drive, but it ended when Eddie Meador intercepted a Morton pass, leaving Dallas with an 8-2 season mark.

Gary Cuozzo came bounding off the bench to fire two touchdown passes and set up two more as Minnesota ran its record to 9-1 and maintained its two-game edge over Detroit in the Central Division. The Vikings and Lions square off Thanksgiving Day.

Cuozzo, who passed for 130 yards, hit John Henderson with a 28-yarder and tossed a six-yarder to Oscar Reed in the match marked by some marathon returns and bizarre plays.

One of the game's most unusual incidents came in the third period when, with the Vikings leading 24-14, Charlie West took a Steeler kickoff on his 14 and raced down the sidelines. The ball popped out of his hands at the Viking 40, but Minnesota's

Benvenuti Looks to Bob Foster

By PATRICK O'KEEFE
ROME (AP) — Classy Nino Benvenuti, having disposed of the best middleweights offered by the United States, looked ahead today to a crack at the world light-heavyweight crown worn by America's Bob Foster.

The tousle-haired fighter from Trieste took care of his last—and many thought best—middleweight challenger Saturday night when he floored Cuban Luis Rodriguez of Miami, Fla., at one minute of round 11.

The knockout punch, described by Rodriguez's manager, Angelo Dundee, as a "good uppercut left hook, right in the banana," came after Nino's face had turned into a mask of blood from Rodriguez' blows.

Rodriguez commented that he had hoped for a knockout himself in round 11 and added, "that was my mistake." It appeared that the Cuban boxer was getting set to deliver a hard right jab when he ran into Benvenuti's left.

It was the first time Benvenuti has defended his crown with a knockout.

In his dressing room later, Benvenuti said, "Now that I have defeated all possible middleweights, my only program is

Michigan Did Remember Last Year

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — All last week Michigan football players practiced with miniature "60's" emblazoned over the front of their jerseys.

It reminded them of last year's bitter 50-14 loss to Ohio State in the last game of the season — a loss that ruined the Wolverines' hopes of going to the Rose Bowl.

Players and coaches say the memory of that humiliation was a catalyst in forming the spirit that drove Michigan to a 24-12 upset Saturday over Ohio State, the nation's top-ranked football team.

The triumph gave the Wolverines a share of the Big Ten title with OSU, both with 6-1 conference records, and Michigan was chosen by Big Ten athletic directors to face Southern California in the Rose Bowl. Southern Cal earned its trip by edging UCLA 14-12 Saturday.

"The fact we were humiliated last year had a definite effect on us," said senior tight end Jim Mandich, an All-American candidate who caught six of Don Moorhead's passes to aid in the stunning win.

"I don't even care what happened on the field," said U-M coach Bo Schembechler, who played and coached under OSU's Woody Hayes for eight years.

"We were so emotionally high we couldn't have lost," he said.

A national record crowd of 103,588 was on hand at Michigan stadium, about 25,000 of them from Ohio.

The Wolverines huddled frantically before the game, many bouncing up and down as if on pogo sticks and displaying a shoulder-flapping enthusiasm.

On the other side of the field, Hayes' Buckeyes seemed rather complacent. Maybe it was their 22-game winning streak that took the excitement out of the match.

One Ohio writer, who is continually with the Buckeyes, said that in their practice all week "Our players were too calm and matter of fact."

"All good things must come to an end and that's what happened today," said Hayes in one of only a few comments in a capsule interview with the press. Newsmen were not allowed in the OSU dressing room.

"They outplayed us, outthrust us and outcoached us," Hayes said tersely.

Schembechler said his game strategy was to contain quarterback Rex Kern, and the Wolverines did, limiting him to only 53 yards and rushing on option plays and intercepting four passes.

Favorite Wraps Up AIC Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took an entire season, but the cream finally came to the top in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference.

Henderson, the preseason favorite, wrapped up the conference championship Saturday, with a boost from State College of Arkansas.

Henderson, sparked by quarterback Tommy Hart, rallied for a 23-17 victory over Ouachita Saturday afternoon and then gained the title outright Saturday night when SCA edged Harding 16-14.

Harding, the surprise team of the conference, could have tied for the title if it had won either of its last two games. However, the Bisons lost close decisions to Tech and SCA. Harding handed Henderson its only conference loss earlier in the season.

It was the Reddies' first football championship since they tied A&M for the title in 1963 and means the Reddies will take on an all-conference team Saturday night at Arkadelphia.

In other action, Southern State pushed Arkansas A&M into the conference cellar with an 8-7 victory over the Weevils and John Pirpich sparked Arkansas Tech to a 21-7 victory over Arkansas AM&N at Little Rock. It was the first time a member of the AIC had met the predominantly Negro AM&N in a football game.

Hart scored one touchdown and passed for another to lead the Reddies past Ouachita. The Tigers gained a 17-7 lead in the third period but Jerry Malone's three-yard scoring run and Hart's six-yard touchdown toss to Charles Walker rallied the Reddies.

SCA snubbed a 16-0 lead over the Bisons in the first three quarters and then hung on.

Hart Heads All-Star List in AIC

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Henderson's Tommy Hart and Harding's Jerry Copeland, two quarterbacks of the two winningest teams in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference, head the all-conference team announced Sunday.

Hart, who led the conference in total offense and scoring, guided Henderson to an 8-2 record and the conference championship. Copeland led the surprising Bisons to a 7-2-1 mark and third place in the conference.

The other backs named to the all-conference team were Harding's Charlie Jones, Ouachita's John Wayne Cunningham and Arkansas Tech's Bill Nelson, all seniors like Hart and Copeland.

Seventeen of the 23 players selected are seniors. Five are juniors. The only sophomore is guard Jerry Cook of Harding.

Tight end Jim Morgan of Henderson and split end Doug Freeze of Ouachita were chosen as the all-conference receivers.

Henderson, Harding and Ouachita each had five players on the team.

The defensive unit:
Ends — Kelly Dunlap, SCA and Curter Booker, Harding.
Interior linemen — Ronnie Coble, Ouachita, Kip Agee, Henderson, Richard McCauley, SCA and Jim Duncan, Harding.

Linebackers — Gary Huggins, SCA and Eddie Buffington, Ouachita.

Defensive backs — Cliff Harris, Ouachita, Stan Parris, Henderson and Daryl Melton, Tech.

Oswald: "Here's a hand that should be a cinch for our readers and yet it is the sort of hand that may well lead a beginner to give up the game of bridge."
 Jim: "It is easy enough at the table also. South plays dummy's king of spades at trick one. This is one time where second-hand high is a must."
 Oswald: "The king holds and it is now a matter of keeping the dangerous hand out of the lead. South does this by leading dummy's 10 of clubs and letting it ride."
 Jim: "The finesse loses but South is sure of his contract. If West shifts to a diamond South must refuse the diamond finesse and cash out four clubs and three hearts to get his nine tricks in before anything bad can happen to him."
 Oswald: "Let's take a columnist's privilege and trade off the eight and ace of spades. Now East plunks the ace down on dummy's king and returns the 10-spot."
 Jim: "South must duck this. The spade will be continued and South will be in with his queen. Now West has become the dangerous hand and South must keep him out of the lead by taking the diamond finesse. East will take his king and return a club where upon South must raise with his ace and settle for his nine tricks this other way."
 Oswald: "This is where some beginners may leave us. One time they are told to finesse clubs and refuse to finesse diamonds. Next time they are told to do just the opposite. And lots of other times they will be told to take both finessses."
 Jim: "When they see the reason for all this, they are no longer beginners."

So You Want To Be...

Creative ability, skill in drawing and the ability to anticipate consumer needs are the most important personal qualifications needed by young people aspiring to be industrial designers.

Industrial designers combine technical knowledge of materials, machines and methods of production with artistic talent to improve the appearance and functional design of machine-made products.

Mechanical interest is desirable for some types of work.
 Completion of a course of study in industrial design—in an art school, an art department of a university, or a technical college—is the usual requirement for entering this field of work.

Formal education in industrial design at a college or university usually takes at least four years to complete, and a few schools require five years. Some schools, usually private art schools or those associated with large art museums, offer a three-year course of study in industrial design which leads to a diploma.

Entrance to the course of study in industrial design is limited, with rare exceptions, to qualified high school graduates; in addition, some schools may require students to present sketches and other examples of their artistic ability.

A number of factors will affect employment of industrial designers. Rapid obsolescence of household and commercial equipment and the rising population will increase the demand for newly designed products. As in the past, manufacturers will strive to hold or increase their share of these markets through the creation of new products, improvements in the design of existing ones and change in package designs and other modernizations in the appearance and use of their products.

However, as in the past, new entrants are likely to encounter keen competition for beginning jobs from persons with engineering, architectural and related educational backgrounds who have artistic and creative talent as well. Also, since personal needs in this profession are very closely related to general business conditions, any downturn in the economy would tend to affect adversely the employment outlook.

Young people considering this field are urged to consult with high school and Employment Service counselors. Information also can be obtained from the Industrial Designers Society of America, 60 West 55th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Przewalski's Horse
 Only one species of wild horse remains on earth today—Przewalski's horse or the tarpan found on the plains of the Altai mountain range and extreme western Mongolia. Quite different from the modern horse, the animal appears to be intermediate between the true horse and the ass.

THERE'S A FILLER FOR EVERY PATCH JOB
 By MR. FIX

There is no lack of materials to serve as fillers for cracks and holes in wood. But to make the patching of furniture, trim and cabinets the neat job it should be, you must pick the right type and apply it properly.

Putty and plastic wood fillers should not be confused with the wood filler used to seal open grain wood. The latter is brushed across the grain of the wood and then the excess wiped away before finishing. The fillers in question here are used for cracks, nail holes and such.

Sometimes old-fashioned linseed oil putty is all that you will need. Do not use it to repair a broken corner or to build up an edge since this sort of putty does not get really hard.

It also does not adhere as well as some of the other fillers. You will find it useful in filling cracks and holes in exterior surfaces. The expansion and contraction due to temperature changes will not hurt this flexible substance.

Putty-like are the plastic compounds available in tubes and cans. These consist of wood powder mixed in an adhesive. They dry quickly, almost too quickly if you are not careful. When dry the material is dense and hard and can be cut and sanded. Some brands are somewhat coarse so make it as smooth as you can while it is still soft.

THE WELL CHILD
 There's No Single Cause For Sudden Crib Deaths

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is the cause of sudden crib deaths?
 A—There is no single cause. In many cases a thorough autopsy fails to reveal any cause but the commonest causes are nasal obstruction or spasm of the larynx due to a mild and perhaps clinically unrecognized respiratory infection.

Crib deaths rarely, if ever, occur in infants over six months of age. But a younger baby, when his nose is obstructed, will not breathe through his mouth nor cry out. Since death then occurs within two to five minutes, it is next to impossible to prevent it and no parent whose baby died in this way should reproach himself.

Older theories that an enlarged thymus, sleeping on the stomach or a whiplash injury was the underlying cause have all been thoroughly investigated and disproved. Any parent whose child has died unexpectedly in his crib should write to the National Foundation for Sudden Infant Death, Inc., 1501 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10036, for more information on the subject.

Q—My daughter, 14, has one breast that is much larger than the other. Is there any treatment for this?

A—Some difference in the size of the two breasts is normal. When it is so pronounced as to be noticeable it is best to adopt a philosophic attitude about it and use a unilaterally padded bra. No other treatment can be recommended.

Q—About six weeks ago my son, 13, complained of pain in his right breast. It has started swelling like a girl's. What causes this and what can be done about it?

A—Soreness of the breasts is common in boys at puberty and is the result of the activity of the pituitary hormone.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS
 Switzerland, today known as one of the world's most peaceful nations, was once a major source of some of Europe's best fighting men. The World Almanac notes that an estimated two million Swiss served as soldiers in foreign armies from the 16th to the 19th centuries. Switzerland has not engaged in armed conflict since the Napoleonic wars in 1815.

$100 Reward!

For information leading to the arrest and conviction of the persons who stole seven newspaper vending machines in downtown Hope the morning of Sept. 26 the undersigned newspapers will pay a cash reward of $100.

Information should be given either to the police or to the Hope Star office, and payment of the reward is guaranteed by Hope Star, which will reimburse by the other newspapers for their share.

All the stolen vending machines bear their newspaper names. Two were stolen from Arkansas Gazette; two from Shreveport Times; and three from Texarkana Gazette.

The foregoing offer also covers the theft of one machine each from Texarkana Gazette, Shreveport Times, and Arkansas Democrat Nov. 5.

Please help us track down the guilty persons.

The Streaking Bullets Gun Down Lakers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 The streaking Bullets gunned down Los Angeles... adding another bit of misfortune to the ailing Lakers' bid for prosperity in the National Basketball Association's Western Division.

Earl Monroe was the deadliest Bullet of them all with 31 points as Baltimore knocked off the Lakers 129-97 Sunday night for its seventh straight victory. The setback dropped Los Angeles two games back of leader Atlanta in the West chase, while second-place Baltimore moved to within 5½ of idle New York in the East.

Cincinnati rolled past Phoenix 137-123 and Boston topped Seattle 125-116 in the night's only other activity.

In the American Basketball Association, the New York Nets defeated Pittsburgh 120-106, Kentucky downed Los Angeles 121-115 and Dallas whipped Washington 121-117.

Baltimore's victory—its 10th in 11 starts—snapped the Lakers' five-game winning streak. Only the brilliant play of Jerry West, who scored 38 points, kept the Lakers, who played most of the way with only six healthy players, in the game at all.

Monroe received 19-point support from Jack Marin and Gus Johnson added 18. Mel Counts had 23 points and 22 rebounds for Los Angeles.

Oscar Robertson drilled in 39 points and Tom Van Arsdale had 29 in guiding the Royals past Phoenix.

The Royals led by only 114-113 with five minutes to go, but Robertson and Van Arsdale then combined for nine points to put it out of reach.

Jerry Chambers scored 31 points for Phoenix. Larry Siegfried scored 26 points and John Havlicek 23—including eight in a fourth quarter rally—as Boston topped the SuperSonics.

Bob Rule was high scorer for Seattle with 33 points. In Saturday night's NBA games, New York topped Phoenix 128-114, Philadelphia whipped Atlanta 132-116, Chicago checked Milwaukee 125-106, Los Angeles beat San Francisco 106-98 and San Diego sailed past Boston 125-116.

Spiro Agnew? He Did Only What F.D.R. Did in 30s

The Liberal backlash from the television networks and the metropolitan press, attacked by Spiro Agnew as spokesman for the Conservative Nixon administration, is not as vitriolic as you might expect.

And for a very good reason. Liberals and New Leftists have as good a memory as your editor has—and what your editor remembers is that Spiro Agnew is doing in 1969 only what the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt did when introducing the New Deal in the early 1930s.

Roosevelt, a far-out Liberal, scoured both the press and the United States Supreme Court of his day because they were ultra-Conservative. FDR attempted to purge the court by "packing" it, and came as close to censoring the press as he could, crippling it with labor regulations that eventually and inexorably reduced New York City's 20 papers to 3 and made lesser cities one-newspaper towns.

Today the situation is reversed. Today the Liberals and New Leftists appear to dominate network television opinion, and certainly control the editorial policies of some of the largest-circulation newspapers in the nation.

What option, therefore, has the spokesman for a Conservative administration but to lash out against the entrenched communications power? Roosevelt did it in the 1930s. So does Agnew in 1969. It's that simple—to one with a memory as long and accurate as your editor's.

Treaty Signed to Prevent Nuclear Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon signed today the paper of ratification for the treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons. Russia simultaneously took similar action in Moscow.

Nixon penned his signature on four different documents at the ceremony in the presidential oval office.

All told, 43 nations must sign to make the nonproliferation treaty effective.

The White House said 22 nations already had ratified the treaty.

The instruments of ratification by the United States also will be deposited in Moscow and London, as the treaty requires, within the next 10 days or two weeks.

At that time, there may be a joint Soviet-U.S. ceremony here at the State Department to which former President Lyndon B. Johnson and former Secretary of State Dean Rusk will be invited.

Nixon said in signing the papers that the government thus was completing a ratification process for "a major international agreement designed to make our world a safer home for all mankind."

Magnolia Paper Aids Grambling

GAMBLING, La.—Dr. R.W.E. Jones, Grambling College president, has announced that the college has received several pieces of typesetting newspaper printing equipment as a gift from the Banner-News Publishing Co. in Magnolia, Ark.

The substantial gift, including two linotype machines and a Ludlow machine with accessories, was made through Walter E. Hussman, editor-publisher of the Banner-News Publishing Co., Dr. Jones said.

The Grambling president said the equipment has been installed in the printing department of the publications office at the college.

"These contributions will be a valuable asset to us as we strive, at little or not cost to the state, to build a respectable printing facility," Dr. Jones said.

Dr. Jones said, "We certainly appreciate not only Mr. Hussman's generous gifts but his interest in the welfare of Grambling College."

This equipment will also enable students to receive training that has not been possible previously, the Grambling president said.

The college publishes a weekly student newspaper but does not have sufficient printing facilities to permit publishing on campus as yet.

Vice President Agnew Very Popular With Average American

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Ralph T. Smith, the newest senator, describes Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as "a very popular fellow" with the average American.

"I've found out that in the last several weeks the vice president has become much more popular than he was before," the Illinois senator said in an interview recorded for home state broadcast.

"The American public is giving every indication of liking what he says and how he says it, and certainly I agree with those who suggest that he wouldn't be saying it if the President didn't sort of turn him in or suggest that he might talk in a certain direction," Smith said.

Agnew in speeches during the past month has been sharply critical of war protest leaders and the reporting by television commentators and some newspapers.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the same Constitution which protects the right of dissent and of free press guards Agnew's right to criticize demonstrators, commentators and newspapers.

But at the same time, Mansfield, in a statement in the Congressional Record, counseled a general lowering of voices.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said President Nixon is leading the administration on a "crude campaign to stifle dissent."

Trial Ordered in Slaying of Civilians

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today ordered a general court martial for 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., accusing him of the premeditated murder of at least 109 men, women, and children in Vietnam in March 1968.

Calley, first American soldier charged in the controversial, alleged massacre of Vietnamese villagers, will face a possible penalty of death or life imprisonment if convicted, the Army said.

The decision to proceed with the trial was made by the command at Ft. Benning, Ga., where Calley is now stationed, and announced jointly in Washington and Georgia.

Only a short time earlier the Army had announced the assignment of Lt. Gen. William R. Peers to find out whether the brigade involved in the alleged mass killings had tried to cover up the incident in its original low level investigation of the operation.

The Army charged Calley with six specifications of premeditated murder of "Oriental human beings" during a U.S. military operation at the village of May Lai in Quang Ngai Province about March 16, 1968.

Each specification accused Calley of killing the villagers with a rifle.

One specification said he shot "not less than 70 males and females of various ages."

Another specification charged him with killing a child, about two years old.

The decision on the court martial was made by Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbott, who as commanding general at Ft. Benning was the convening authority in the case.

The Army said the trial will be held at Ft. Benning. No date has been set. The Army said it would take at least a month for the defense and prosecution to prepare for the trial.

Court Upholds Residence Vote Period

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court kept alive today state laws that require a minimum residence period for voting for president and vice president.

The 6-2 ruling turned down a young Colorado couple's argument that residence requirements discriminate without good reason against voters who have recently moved into a state.

In other actions today, the court:

— Rejected claims that illiterate black voters in Sunflower, Miss., were victims of racial discrimination in a 1967 election because there were no black election officials to help them cast their ballots.

— Declined to decide whether juveniles suspected of crime must be warned immediately by police they have a right to remain silent and to a lawyer's advice.

The court turned down Richard V. Hall and his wife, Christine, of Colorado Springs, on the technical grounds that the state law has reduced the residence requirement in Colorado to the point where they would have been eligible to vote, and because the 1968 election is over, anyhow.

Justices William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall dissented, saying the court should have stretched its view of "mootness" to reach the important constitutional issues raised by the Halls.

Marshall, in an opinion in which Brennan joined, said Colorado's residency requirement for voters for president violates the equal protection guarantees of the federal Constitution.

The Halls' appeal, granted review last May in the closing weeks of the Warren court, amounted to a test challenge to state residence rules everywhere that have served to bar millions of people from voting in presidential elections because in the months immediately preceding the election they had moved from one state to another.

An estimated 4.8 million people were barred from voting for See COURT UPHOLDS (On Page Two)

Moon Walkers Scheduled Down Today

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 12's moon men neared the end of their voyage of discovery today, guiding their Yankee Clipper toward a blazing dash through the atmosphere and back to their home planet.

Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean were on a near perfect course that would slam them into the atmosphere 76 miles above the Pacific Ocean at 24,600 miles an hour. Splashdown was set for 3:58 p.m. EST about 400 miles southwest of American Samoa.

They planned a short burst of their jet thrusters at 12:44 p.m. to zero in on the area where the aircraft carrier Hornet waited. If they come close, the landing will be televised live.

As the 10-day million-mile journey neared an end, Conrad, Gordon and Bean held the world's first news conference from space during a final telecast Sunday night.

Answering questions prepared by newsmen, they reported it took great skill to land on the moon, rocks are hard to identify because the color changes in different sun angles, sleeping on the moon was difficult and they'd launch again in a thunderstorm—as they did Nov. 14 — if necessary.

The astronauts hoped to match in the Pacific the pinpoint landing Conrad and Bean achieved last Wednesday when the lunar module Intrepid touched down only 600 feet from an unmanned Surveyor spacecraft that landed on the Ocean of Storms 2½ years ago.

The three Navy commanders sent this message to Rear Adm. Donald C. Davis on the Hornet: "Dear Red Dog: Apollo 12 with three tail hookers aboard, expects to make PIM (Point of Intended Movement), as we have energy for only one pass. Signed, Pete, Dick and Al."

Navy pilots on carrier landings are called tail hookers because of the arresting gear on their aircraft.

The landing in warm Polynesian waters climaxes a lunar expedition which should vastly enrich man's knowledge of the moon and perhaps his own earth and universe.

Coming home with Yankee Clipper are 80 to 90 pounds of moon rock gathered by Conrad and Bean, film recording nearly eight hours of moonwalk, and parts of Surveyor 3.

They also demonstrated on man's second visit to the moon that astronauts can land at a precise point on the surface, valuable knowledge for future Apollo crews who will fly into mountains and craters.

The court upheld a jury award of $9,000 to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Phillips Jr. of Johnson County for 11.11 acres of their land condemned for the interstate route in Johnson County.

The state Highway Commission had contended in the Circuit Court trial that the testimony of some witnesses for Phillips overestimated the land's value.

Real Estate Subject of Rotary

An interesting program on highlights and sidelights of the real estate business was presented to the Hope Rotary Club by Vincent Foster last Friday at a luncheon meeting in the Town and Country. The speaker's 35 years of experience with real estate resulted in accounts that were both humorous and serious.

His remarks were culminated with a brief prospectus of the Hempstead County Industrial Foundation. The outlook for Hope in the next 10 years is quite good with planned expansion by existing industry and good prospects for obtaining additional concerns. Thanks were given to the many local people who have done much to give a good impression of our town to visiting business representative.

President Benny Coleman had charge of the business meeting, and the local club members were joined by one visiting Rotarian, Alor: Geddie of Camden.

Tax Loophole Lets Oil and Mining Firms Get Away With Millions

By JOHN S. LANG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A loophole in federal law is letting oil and mining companies avoid $100 million yearly in taxes by funneling income through shadow foundations which give little or no money to charity.

The transactions are legal under present law, but the tax reform bill on which the Senate opens debate today would shut the loophole.

Foundations involved in the deals are granted tax exempt status on grounds they are non-profit charitable corporations. But an Associated Press study shows the main purpose of the foundations is to serve as mid-dlemen in multimillion-dollar deals involving banks and mineral producers.

Use of the complex transactions allows oil and mining concerns to stretch benefits of the See TAX LOOPHOLE (On Page Two)

Glis at War Lowest in Two Years

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that American troop strength in Vietnam has dropped to 484,400 men, the lowest in two years.

This virtually completes the second round of troop withdrawals ordered by President Nixon.

The Command's report of troop strength as of last Thursday showed a drop of 4,800 men during the previous week. This reduced U.S. strength to only 400 more than the new ceiling of 484,000 men Nixon ordered to be reached by Dec. 15.

A U.S. spokesman said the command still expects to reduce American troop strength by that date to 4,000 less than Nixon's ceiling, or 480,000 men.

U.S. forces reached a high of 543,400 men last April, two months before the President announced withdrawal of 25,000 men. In September he announced another 35,000 men were being pulled out.

There has been speculation in both Saigon and Washington that Nixon may announce further troop withdrawals before the end of the year unless there is some marked change in the war picture.

Informants reported today that allied intelligence has detected an increase in the movement of North Vietnamese war materials and troops along the Ho Chi Minh Trail, but Lt. Gen. Julian J. Ewell, who commands the U.S. 2nd Field Force in Saigon and The 11 surrounding provinces, indicated at a news conference that increased infiltration has not become evident yet in his zone.

Ewell said that during the last several months, infiltration into his area had fallen to as low as 1,000 enemy troops per month compared with an average of 6,000 a month in the first six months of the year.

Responding to the new enemy threat, the U.S. command has shifted a good part of its fighter-bomber raids from targets in South Vietnam to the infiltration corridors through eastern Laos.

For the past five days the 150 planes of the Carriers Ranger and Hancock have been sent out to bomb and strafe the trail network and to check on traffic moving from North Vietnam south.

Informants said there always has been an increase in North Vietnamese infiltration at this time of the year, after the seasonal monsoon rains have ended and movement along the jungle trails is easier.

One informant said it appears the enemy command is trying to prepare "for something more pronounced than a campaign marked by a series of 'highpoints' of activity," the pattern for the past year.

This could take the form of a sustained countryside offensive, or the present strategy of cyclic "highpoints" of activity could continue, informants said.

Meanwhile, the nightly Viet Cong and North Vietnamese shelling dropped to its lowest level in nearly three months. Only two rocket and mortar attacks were reported Sunday

DONG TIEN, South Vietnam — (NEA) — The man's name is Nguyen Van Dum. He is 20 years old. He is four feet, five inches tall. He weighs 78 pounds. His shoe size is six.

He's a South Vietnamese soldier.

He is the man who is replacing the American GI in his continuing conflict.

Van Dum is not very happy about the whole thing. A couple of months ago he was a rice-paddy worker, neither knowing nor caring about soldiering. Then he was drafted. Now, until either the war or his life ends, he is a member of the most controversial and surely the most desperate military force in the world.

Since the beginning of the decade, South Vietnam has enlisted one of every eight citizens in some sort of armed service.

But Van Dum has the most unpleasant burden of all. He is a private first class in the infantry. The lowest-ranking, highest-exposed, longest-laboring and shortest-lived warrior of the war.

And this, in brief, is how it is for him.

He rises at 4 a.m. Retires whenever allowed. And in between, seven days a week, is expected to kill Communists or kill time, whatever the situation demands.

In either situation, Van Dum's working conditions are Spartan. The jungle camps are bad, the garrisons even worse. Where the infantry goes, the slumlife follows. Van Dum's buildings are made from cardboard. He stands in mud. He sits on rocks. He sleeps over logs. As a rule, his nearest running water is a river.

As a matter of fact, the only real cleaning in the Vietnamese infantry is done by nature. The garbage is eaten by the flies. The flies are eaten by the spiders. The spiders are eaten by the snakes.

And the snakes are eaten by Pfc. Van Dum.

The trooper, however, eats to survive. Snakes, birds, varmints—such wildlife are used to supplement the soldier's army ration, which is meager. By regulation, Van Dum is allowed only 750 grams of government food a day. It is mostly rice and provides less than 2,000 calories—about half of what a foot soldier, even a Vietnamese foot soldier, requires.

There is another problem with the infantry chow, too. It's expensive. Van Dum is docked 38 cents a day for his share.

He can ill afford the price. Despite recent governmental salary increases, the pfc's monthly pay is still only $20—not nearly enough, even before food deductions, to purchase basic items of personal necessity.

But bad as Van Dum's food and money problem is now, it will likely get worse. For although the cost of living in Vietnam rises daily, the soldier's salary is fixed. He can get a raise only if he can get a promotion. Some pfc's here have waited 10 or more years for their second stripe.

Actually, the only immediate way Van Dum can get any more money out of the army is to be killed in combat, as some 100,000 of his countrymen have been in the last nine years. In general, for a pfc, casualty compensation is the only way to get ahead.

sation amounts to less than $300.

And so Nguyen Van Dum has a dim time of it. His present is precarious. And his future is unpredictable.

As an illiterate son of an illiterate family, he can neither read nor write letters. As a low man in the ranks, he can expect only 15 days' furlough a year. As one of the skimpiest-paid workers in his nation, he can neither spend nor save. And as an infantryman, he can very easily be one of the 250 to 400 of his comrades who will be slaughtered this week.

Such prospects, certainly, are hard to take. And Van Dum may decide not to. It's possible he may just join the 20 to 25 per cent of Vietnamese infantrymen who desert each year.

But the greater probability is that he'll stick with it. And despite the privation, as the Americans continue to be withdrawn, he'll continue to advance. Why? As any soldier here knows from repeated warnings, life in the Vietnamese infantry may be awful, but life in the Vietnamese infantry jail is worse.

UCLA Ousted by Southern Cal Defense

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Michigan has a great running attack, and I think we have a fine defense against the run," declared Southern California Coach John McKay in the aftermath of a Saturday which decided the Rose Bowl contestants.

His squad's 14-12 victory over UCLA in the clash of the undefeated crosstown rivals came first in his thoughts, but McKay's satisfaction was heightened by the 24-12 victory of Michigan over Ohio State.

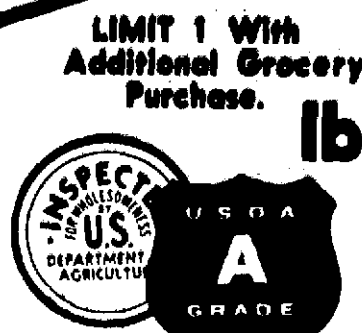

That left the Wolverines of Michigan and the Buckeyes deadlocked for the Big Ten title so the co-champ and No. 1 collegiate upsetter of the year appears in Pasadena on Jan. 1.

This fourth-straight appearance of USC sets a precedent for the Rose Bowl, but McKay was quick to point out that the majority of his 1969 squad never had played in the classic.

Colonels Are Back in Contention

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Louie Dampier and Darel Carrier, Kentucky's one-two punch, teamed for a 51-point explosion Sunday night that helped the Colonels climb back to within 2½ games of leading Indiana in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division chase.

Dampier dumped in 27 points and Carrier 24 as the Colonels turned back Los Angeles 121-115. New York stopped Pittsburgh 120-106 and Dallas whipped Washington 121-117 in the night's only other activity.

Los Angeles trimmed Carolina 120-117 in Saturday night's only ABA game.

In the NBA, Cincinnati rolled past Phoenix 137-123, Baltimore zipped over Los Angeles 129-97 and Boston beat Seattle 125-116.

Kentucky leaped to an early lead and had a 101-79 advantage late in the third quarter before the Stars started catching up. However, Los Angeles never could get closer than five points.

Bill McGill led Los Angeles with 24 points and Merv Jackson added 19.

Ed Johnson and Lavern Tart teamed for 14 points in the last five minutes to turn off a Pitts-

Lawyers Group to Aid Others

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A group of Little Rock lawyers has formed an organization to help persons review for the Arkansas bar examination.

Gordon S. Rather, Jr., the president of Bar Review, said the course is similar to those offered in other states and was initiated in Arkansas after several individuals had expressed an interest in such a course.

He said the course will cost $100 and will be offered in March and July beginning in 1970.

burgh rally and send New York to its third straight victory.

The Nets had a 97-86 lead with 8:09 left, but went scoreless for more than three minutes as the Pipers cut the gap to 99-92. But then Tart, who finished with 33 points, came up with eight points and Johnson added six to put it out of doubt.

Charlie Williams scored 29 points and Mike Lewis 18 for Pittsburgh.

Dallas rode a 30-point showing by Manny Leaks past Washington, although the Caps had to hold off a late Cap rally. John Beasley contributed 26 points and Glenn Combs 22.

Warren Armstrong had 30 for the Caps.

Nixon Ponders on What to Do Next

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second time this century a president is trying to decide what to do next after the Senate voted down his nominee to the Supreme Court.

President Nixon said Friday, after the Senate rejected 55-45 his nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth, that he would wait until Congress returns in January for its second term before submitting another nomination.

Nixon also said he would stick with his campaign pledge to pick a nominee who believes in "a strict interpretation of the Supreme Court's role."

While smarting from his worst congressional defeat since taking office, Nixon must try a second time to find such a man who will be agreeable to the Senate.

The last president to face this dilemma was Herbert Hoover, and he handled it well by any side's view. Hoover barely won confirmation of his first Supreme Court nominee, Charles Evans Hughes, and lost his second, John J. Parker of North Carolina, by a 41-39 vote on May 7, 1930.

Parker, like Haynsworth, was opposed by labor and civil rights groups. Some critics said he was nominated to pay a political debt to Southerners who had supported Hoover in 1928.

Progressives in Congress, smarting under the conservative rule of the 1920s, stopped Parker's nomination.

Hoover, like Nixon, looked for another nominee who would fulfill his philosophical requirements and clear the Senate. He came up with Owen J. Roberts.

Roberts satisfied the Senate, which gave unanimous confirmation. He probably would have satisfied Nixon as well.

A strict constructionist on the bench, Roberts was strictly middle-of-the-road politically. He voted sometimes with the court's conservative bloc, sometimes with the liberals. But each decision was based on the law as he read it, not social or political philosophy.

Parker, too, fared well after the bitter court fight. He remained on the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals, became chief judge and in time even won the respect of labor.

Hughes, whom Hoover made chief justice, was confirmed 56 to 26 despite complaints that his recent work as a lawyer had been largely for great corporations.

The confirmation fight troubled Hughes but did not prevent him from becoming one of the court's best known and most distinguished members. Nor did a similar battle keep Justice Hugo L. Black from a long and esteemed career.

Black was confirmed in 1937 with 16 votes against him, the opposition coming from conservatives who opposed his New Deal philosophy.

The fight came after he was sworn in and it was revealed he had once belonged to the Ku Klux Klan. Black admitted the membership, said it had been terminated long ago and that he did not hold the racial or religious views attributed to the Klan.

Delectable Stuffing Perks Up a Turkey

By AILEEN CLAIRE, NEA Food Editor

Although the inspiration for Thanksgiving stems from a proclamation issued in Plymouth Colony in the autumn of 1621, leave it to the ladies to carry through the idea.

Sarah J. B. Hale, as editor of the Ladies' Magazine and Godey's Lady's Book, campaigned years for a national Thanksgiving Day. President Lincoln made it official on Oct. 3, 1863, "as a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father."

It remains a day of gathering close friends and family. For many it is still a time to offer prayers of thanks. Although the menus can vary regionally, the traditional dinner means an attractive table set with the best silver

SWEET POTATO STUFFING

- 1 (1-lb.) package corn bread stuffing or herb seasoned stuffing
- 1 pound sausage meat
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ½ cup chopped celery
- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 2 (1-pound) cans golden yams drained and mashed, about 2½ cups
- 1 teaspoon orange rind
- ½ cup chopped parsley
- 1½ cups chicken broth or water
- 2 eggs, beaten

Brown sausage, drain off fat and remove from pan. Sauté onion and celery in butter until tender. Stir in sweet potato, orange rind,

- 2 quarts cider
- 2 cinnamon sticks
- 1 (12-ounce) can pineapple juice
- 1 cup light corn syrup
- ½ cup lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- Baked Oranges

Mix cider and cinnamon in large saucepan. Cover. Bring to boil, then simmer 5 minutes. Add pineapple juice, corn syrup, lemon juice and nutmeg. Heat well. Remove cinnamon sticks. Pour over Baked Oranges in punch bowl. Serve hot. Makes about 2½ quarts.

BAKED ORANGES

- 3 small, perfect oranges (preferably navel)
- Whole cloves
- Studd oranges with cloves

Highlights of the Apollo Schedule

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Here are scheduled highlights of return-to-earth day on Apollo 12's moon landing mission, all times Eastern Standard:

Monday, Nov. 24

5:30 a.m. — Astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean awake from 10-hour rest and eat their final meal of the flight.

7:22 a.m. — Gordon conducts navigation experiments, measuring star angles through sextant to determine Yankee Clipper's exact location in space.

12:44 p.m. — Main spaceship engine triggered, if needed, to put Yankee Clipper on more exact course toward mid-Pacific splashdown site.

3:32 p.m. — Spaceship's cone-shaped command module cockpit section separates from service module engine section, exposing heat shield needed to protect astronauts against searing re-entry temperatures.

3:44 p.m. — Start of re-entry through earth's atmosphere.

3:58 p.m. — Astronauts splash down in mid-Pacific near recovery ship USS Hornet.

Colonels Are Back in Contention

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Louis Dampier and Darel Carrier, Kentucky's one-two punch, teamed for a 51-point explosion Sunday night that helped the Colonels climb back to within 2½ games of leading Indiana in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division chase.

Dampier dumped in 27 points and Carrier 24 as the Colonels turned back Los Angeles 121-115. New York stopped Pittsburgh 120-106 and Dallas whipped Washington 121-117 in the night's only other activity.

Los Angeles trimmed Carolina 120-117 in Saturday night's only ABA game.

In the NBA, Cincinnati rolled past Phoenix 137-123, Baltimore zipped over Los Angeles 129-97 and Boston beat Seattle 125-116.

Kentucky leaped to an early lead and had a 101-79 advantage late in the third quarter before the Stars started catching up. However, Los Angeles never could get closer than five points.

Bill McGill led Los Angeles with 24 points and Merv Jackson added 19.

Ed Johnson and Lavern Tart teamed for 14 points in the last five minutes to turn off a Pitts-

Lawyers Group to Aid Others

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A group of Little Rock lawyers has formed an organization to help persons review for the Arkansas bar examination.

Gordon S. Rather, Jr., the president of Bar Review, said the course is similar to those offered in other states and was initiated in Arkansas after several individuals had expressed an interest in such a course. He said the course will cost $100 and will be offered in March and July beginning in 1970.

burgh rally and send New York to its third straight victory.

The Nets had a 97-86 lead with 8:09 left, but went scoreless for more than three minutes as the Pipers cut the gap to 99-92. But then Tart, who finished with 33 points, came up with eight points and Johnson added six to put it out of doubt.

Charlie Williams scored 29 points and Mike Lewis 18 for Pittsburgh.

Dallas rode a 30-point showing by Manny Leaks past Washington, although the Chaps had to hold off a late Cap rally. John Beasley contributed 26 points and Glenn Combs 22.

Warren Armstrong had 30 for the Caps.

Nixon Ponders on What to Do Next

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second time this century a president is trying to decide what to do next after the Senate voted down his nominee to the Supreme Court.

President Nixon said Friday, after the Senate rejected 55-45 his nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth, that he would wait until Congress returns in January for its second term before submitting another nomination. Nixon also said he would stick with his campaign pledge to pick a nominee who believes in "a strict interpretation of the Supreme Court's role."

While smarting from his worst congressional defeat since taking office, Nixon must try a second time to find such a man who will be agreeable to the Senate.

The last president to face this dilemma was Herbert Hoover, and he handled it well by any side's view. Hoover barely won confirmation of his first Supreme Court nominee, Charles Evans Hughes, and lost his second, John J. Parker of North Carolina, by a 41-39 vote on May 7, 1930.

Parker, like Haynsworth, was opposed by labor and civil rights groups. Some critics said he was nominated to pay a political debt to Southerners who had supported Hoover in 1928.

Progressives in Congress, smarting under the conservative rule of the 1920s, stopped Parker's nomination.

Hoover, like Nixon, looked for another nominee who would fulfill his philosophical requirements and clear the Senate. He came up with Owen J. Roberts.

Roberts satisfied the Senate, which gave unanimous confirmation. He probably would have satisfied Nixon as well.

A strict constructionist on the bench, Roberts was strictly middle-of-the-road politically. He voted sometimes with the court's conservative bloc, sometimes with the liberals. But each decision was based on the law as he read it, not social or political philosophy.

Parker, too, fared well after the bitter court fight. He remained on the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals, became chief judge and in time even won the respect of labor.

Hughes, whom Hoover made chief justice, was confirmed 56 to 26 despite complaints that his recent work as a lawyer had been largely for great corporations.

The confirmation fight troubled Hughes but did not prevent him from becoming one of the court's best known and most distinguished members. Nor did a similar battle keep Justice Hugo L. Black from a long and esteemed career.

Black was confirmed in 1937 with 16 votes against him, the opposition coming from conservatives who opposed his New Deal philosophy.

The fight came after he was sworn in and it was revealed he had once belonged to the Ku Klux Klan. Black admitted the membership, said it had been terminated long ago and that he did not hold the racial or religious views attributed to the Klan.

Highlights of the Apollo Schedule

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Here are scheduled highlights of return-to-earth day on Apollo 12's moon landing mission, all times Eastern Standard:

Monday, Nov. 24
5:30 a.m. — Astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean awake from 10-hour rest and eat their final meal of the flight.

7:22 a.m. — Gordon conducts navigation experiments, measuring star angles through sextant to determine Yankee Clipper's exact location in space.

12:44 p.m. — Main spaceship engine triggered, if needed, to put Yankee Clipper on more exact course toward mid-Pacific splashdown site.

3:32 p.m. — Spaceship's cone-shaped command module cockpit section separates from service module engine section, exposing heat shield needed to protect astronauts against searing re-entry temperatures.

3:44 p.m. — Start of re-entry through earth's atmosphere.

3:58 p.m. — Astronauts splash down in mid-Pacific near recovery ship USS Hornet.

Delectable Stuffing Perks Up a Turkey

By AILEEN CLAIRE, NEA Food Editor

Although the inspiration for Thanksgiving stems from a proclamation issued in Plymouth Colony in the autumn of 1621, leave it to the ladies to carry through the idea.

Sarah J. B. Hale, as editor of the Ladies' Magazine and Godey's Lady's Book, campaigned years for a national Thanksgiving Day. President Lincoln made it official on Oct. 3, 1863, "as a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father."

It remains a day of gathering close friends and family. For many it is still a time to offer prayers of thanks. Although the menus can vary regionally, the traditional dinner means an attractive table set with the best silver

- ### SWEET POTATO STUFFING

 - 1 (1-lb.) package corn bread stuffing or herb seasoned stuffing
 - 1 pound sausage meat
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery
 - 1 cup butter or margarine
 - 2 (1-pound) cans golden yams drained and mashed, about 2 1/2 cups
 - 1 teaspoon orange rind
 - 1/4 cup chopped parsley
 - 1 1/2 cups chicken broth or water
 - 2 eggs, beaten

Brown sausage, drain off fat and remove from pan. Sauté onion and celery in butter until tender. Stir in sweet potato, orange rind,
- 2 quarts cider
 - 2 cinnamon sticks
 - 1 (12-ounce) can pineapple juice
 - 1 cup light corn syrup
 - 1/2 cup lemon juice
 - 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 - Baked Oranges

Mix cider and cinnamon in large saucepan. Cover. Bring to boil, then simmer 5 minutes. Add pineapple juice, corn syrup, lemon juice and nutmeg. Heat well. Remove cinnamon sticks. Pour over Baked Oranges in punch bowl. Serve hot. Makes about 2 1/4 quarts.
- ### BAKED ORANGES

 - 3 small, perfect oranges (preferably navel)
 - Whole cloves

Stud oranges with cloves
